Bunn Leisure goes Deeply Dippy over pop duo Right Said Fred

We'll never be 'too sexy' for this fun, funky 90s pop sensation, and Bunn Leisure is delighted to welcome chart-topping brothers Right Said Fred.

With their trademark tight leather trousers and bare chests, the group gyrated their way to pop stardom in the 90s.

They might keep their shirts on a little more these days, but their catchy hit tunes Deeply Dippy and I'm Too Sexy will still see you getting hot under the collar as you boogie the night away.

Formed by Richard Fairbrass and his younger brother Fred in 1989, Right Said Fred were joined by guitarist Rob Manzoli in 1990.

With more than 20 million record sales worldwide, their two biggest singles won Ivor Novello Awards and the band was nominated for the Brit Award for Best British group in 1993.

To dance the night away with this chart-topping outfit just book a break at Bunn Leisure over 11 August – and all entertainment is free to our guests. A three-night break starts from only £280 for up to six people, or you could even pitch a tent for as little as £40 per night giving you free access to an amazing range of kids' activities and our Oasis Leisure Centre.
