Sam Bailey returns to Bunn Leisure

X Factor winner Sam Bailey will be showing off her powerhouse vocals at multi award-winning holiday park Bunn Leisure this September.

The West Sussex-based holiday park will be welcoming Sam back to The Embassy club on Saturday, September 22, when she will be performing all her best-loved hits in concert along with her own live band.

Since her famous X Factor win in 2013 – when her single Skyscraper shot straight to the top of the charts – the former prison officer has gone from strength to strength, supporting Beyonce on the UK leg of her world tour, playing Mama Morton in the UK tour of Chicago, Betty Simpson in Fat Friends the musical, releasing her Sing My Heart Out album and taking the USA by storm with her one night only show in L.A.

Sam Bailey is returning to Bunn Leisure for the third time. In 2015, she was announced as a guest celebrity judge for the Bunn Leisure's Got Talent Grand Final, where she presented a £1,000 cash prize to the winner of the contest, and she returned in 2017 to take center stage at The Embassy.

To sing the night away with Sam on September 22, just book a break at Bunn Leisure over that date, and all entertainment is free to guests. A three-night break static holiday starts from only £198 for up to six people, or one night stays at Bunn Leisure's Warner Farm Touring & Camping starts from as little as £25. Even better, why not go all out and try our premium holiday houses and cottage complete with hot tub options, for up to 12 people, perfect for that big family and friends weekend away?
